FROM THE VICE CHANCELLOR'S DESK

It gives me immense pleasure to present to you the first batch of National Law University Assam, i.e. Batch of 2016. The batch of 2016 is a conglomeration of students with mysterious yet illuminating aura who have ceaselessly, effortlessly and immaculately executed all the arduous assignments that have been entrusted to them.

When I joined this University, I saw a cluster of students who were always inquisitive to differentiate the normative from the positive and always showed a predilection to face every challenge on the front foot. The effort of the University has always been to employ modern methods of teaching, thereby honing the students for higher roles in the society. The students do not merely adapt to the academic conundrum and rigorous assignments, but have been adept in executing them.

I can vouch for their technical competence, integrity and legal acumen. I request you to make these students a part of your esteemed organization and solicit your gracious presence for the placement procedure. These students will be an asset for your esteemed organization as wherever they go, their action will speak more than their word.

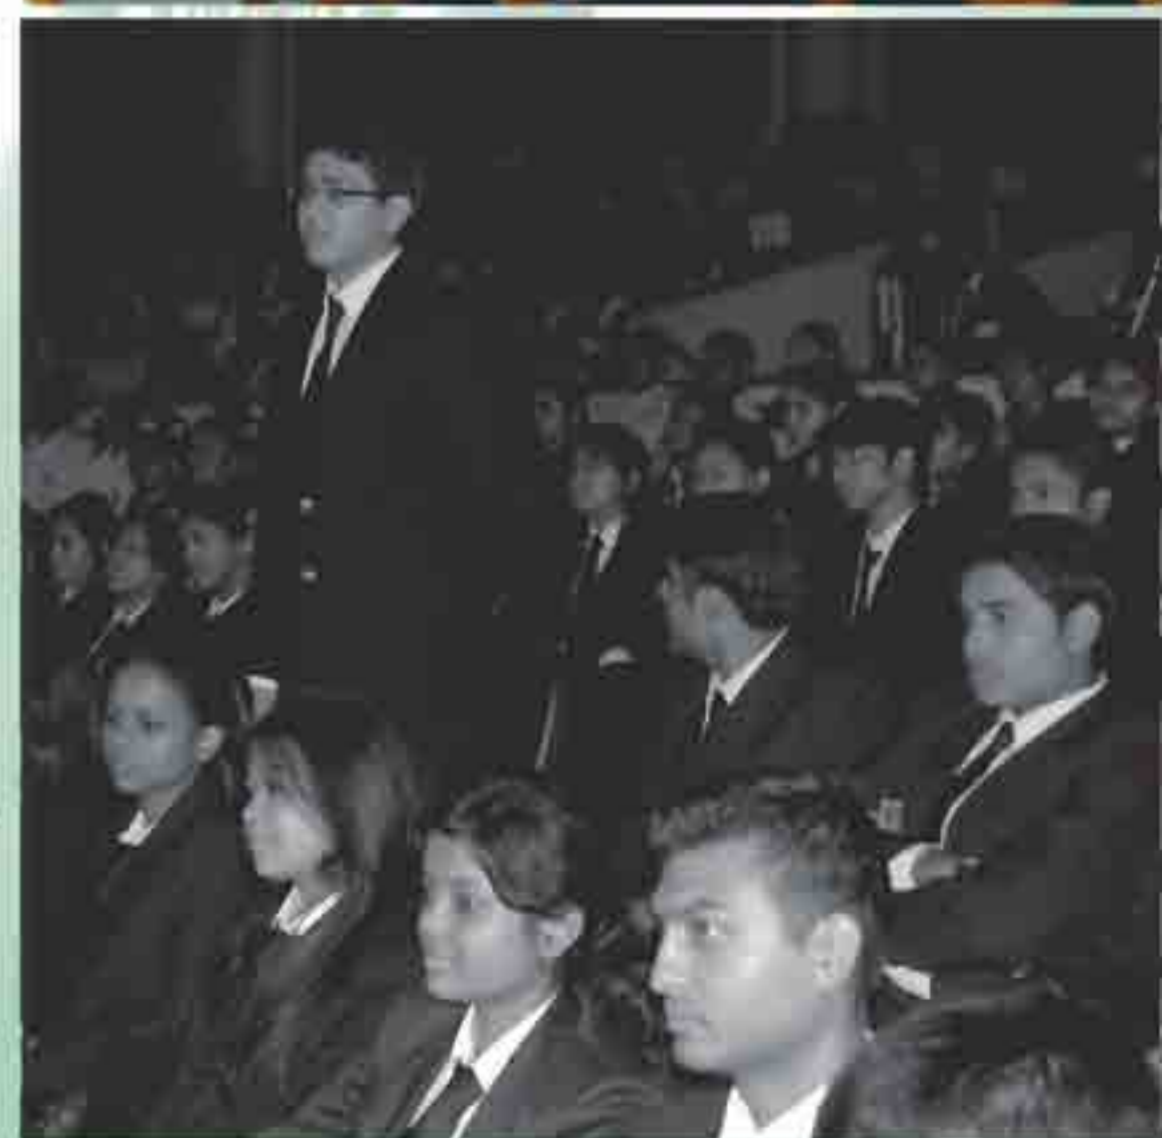

I present to you the first batch of NLU Assam – B.A., LL.B. (Hons.)

Prof. (Dr.) Vijender Kumar

NLU-A APPROACH

National Law University, Assam was established with the aim and a vision to promote and make available modern legal education and research facilities to students and scholars drawn from across the country, including the North East region. In a short span of four years, it has emerged as one of the pioneering institutions imparting legal education and has successfully consolidated its place among the leading law schools in India. NLU-A has imprinted its footsteps with an indelible ink in the blink of an eye. The success of NLU-A owes its credit to its first batch which had placed their immense faith in the institution and left no stones unturned to meet every hurdle that impeded them. The geographical location of NLU-A hasn't inhibited the growth of the institution, rather the dynamism and determination of its students has always paved the way for its growth in an unimaginable way. Despite its infrastructural deficiencies, accruing from the fact that the University has been operating from its temporary campus, the institution has managed to organize national events efficiently. The institution has been a host to National Moot Court Competition in collaboration with 'Surana & Surana' for three consecutive years. Numerous national conferences, workshops and seminars have also been organized by the institution and the success was materialized by the determination and diligence of its students who were always there to face all impediments. The leadership qualities displayed by students materialized every University event into a successful one which was duly acknowledged by the participants from different law schools, bar and bench.

INFRASTRUCTURE AND FACILITIES

At present, the University is functioning from the NEJOTI Building at the heart of the city and its permanent campus imminent at Amingaon, Guwahati which is located in a picturesque area besides the north bank of the Brahmaputra River. The Government of Assam has allotted about 50 acres of land for the construction of its permanent campus. The construction of the university buildings is gaining momentum and soon the university will be shifting from its temporary campus to its permanent one. To illustrate its uniqueness, the Judicial Academy of Assam is also coming up along with the University and it is one of the unique experiments in legal education to house the University and Judicial Academy in a single campus.

The University has state-of-the-art infrastructure in its present campus. The Administrative Offices, the Class-Rooms, the Conference Hall, the Moot Court Hall, the Dining Hall are being well furnished with all modern equipments. The campus and the hostels are Wi-Fi enabled with each Girl's Hostel and Boy's Hostel having separate Multipurpose Gymnasiums. The Library is a gateway to quality education and research in the field of law, social sciences and humanities. In its library, the University has a collection of more than nine thousand printed titles and more than two hundred e-books covering law, social sciences and humanities. Over the years, the library has procured various Law Journals, both printed and electronic. LexisNexis, Manupatra, Westlaw, SCC Online, Cambridge Book Online, JSTOR, Hein Online, Elgar Online are one of the many online databases which have been made available to facilitate quality research of students, visiting research scholars and faculty members. During Semester Breaks, the students, scholars and faculty have been provided with remote access to these library resources.
