1. COURSE OBJECTIVES

Wars around the world have caused untold miseries on humanity. The magnitude of such armed conflicts has inflicted immeasurable suffering upon innocent civilian population, wounded and sick members of armed forces and prisoners of war. In such a situation of humanitarian challenge, International Humanitarian Law seeks to mitigate the effects of war by limiting the choice of means and methods of conducting military operations and by obliging the belligerents not to harm the non-combatants and the civilian population. International Humanitarian law also known as the law of armed conflict is a branch of law which governs situation of armed conflict or war. Armed conflicts both international and non-international are a serious challenge to human race in the 21st century resulting in grave violation of human rights. Hence, it is imperative that the world community- governments, international and regional organizations and individuals pro-actively participate in ensuring the effective implementation and enforcement of International Humanitarian law.

The present course structure is designed to acquaint the students of law with the comprehensive knowledge of International Humanitarian law and its impact on contemporary armed conflicts around the world. The students are motivated to learn about the historical development of the concept of humanitarian law so that they develop an understanding of the reasons behind the emergence of humanitarian law.

The objectives of the course are:

- i. To trace the historical evolution, development and philosophical foundations of humanitarian law in international perspective.
- ii. To develop comprehensive understanding about the internationally recognized Humanitarian law treaties and instruments.
- iii. To study the provisions of humanitarian law pertaining to protection of children, women and cultural property during armed conflict.
- iv. To familiarize students with the international legal framework on humanitarian law prohibiting means and methods of warfare during international and non-international armed conflict.
- v. To explain elaborately the significance and relevance of International humanitarian law in contemporary times.
- vi. To acquaint students with the mechanisms for the effective implementation and enforcement of humanitarian law in national and international sphere.
- vii. To inculcate critical thinking and awareness pertaining to key issues in contemporary humanitarian law.

2. TEACHING METHODOLOGY

The teaching methodology shall aim at the generation of critical thinking among the students. For teaching International Humanitarian Law lecture method along with alternative and supplementary strategies for effective teaching will be utilized, such as permissive style of teaching, brain storming, group discussion, seminar presentation. To develop an understanding on varied topics of international humanitarian law group discussion and brain-storming sessions will be held in the classroom. To encourage self study, individualized instruction and to inculcate study attitudes individual seminar topics shall be allotted to students in advance. The teacher will guide the students in their pursuit of legal learning through application of the planned teaching process which includes introduction of the basic concept, presentation and discussion of the subject-matter in details, recapitulation on the topic discussed through questioning, clarification of doubts and queries, if any, and suggestions for further readings. The topic for a particular class shall be informed to the students before hand and readings shall be assigned to them for the said topic. They are expected to have a basic idea about the topic prior to the class. Subsequent to a brief lecture on the topic, there shall be class discussion on the same as well as on the readings assigned. Pursuant to the class discussion, the teacher shall substantiate the issues raised and answer any questions posed or left unanswered. The topics will be taught through projected teaching aids like power point presentation and white board.

3. COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES

At the completion of the course, it is humbly expected that the students shall:

1. Understand the nuances of each module and comprehend the intricacies of various International Humanitarian law treaties
2. Be able to analyze the contemporary humanitarian law problems in the light of the concepts learnt and articulate their ideas on the subject matter of the course.
3. Acquire the skill of analytical in-depth research along with a publishable research work
4. Improve their knowledge-base and be encouraged to pursue the subject at the post-graduate level
5. Undertake future research work on humanitarian law at Ph.D. level.
